PROHIBITION OF SALES TO EEA RETAIL INVESTORS – The Notes are not intended to be offered, sold or otherwise made available to and should not be offered, sold or otherwise made available to any retail investor in the European Economic Area ("EEA"). For these purposes, a retail investor means a person who is one (or more) of: (i) a retail client as defined in point (11) of Article 4(1) of Directive 2014/65/EU ("MiFID II"); or (ii) a customer within the meaning of Directive 2016/97/EU (as amended, the "Insurance Distribution Directive"), where that customer would not qualify as a professional client as defined in point (10) of Article 4(1) of MiFID II; or (iii) not a qualified investor as defined in Regulation (EU) 2017/1129, as amended (the "Prospectus Regulation"). Consequently, no key information document (the "PRIIPs KID") required by Regulation (EU) No 1286/2014 (the "PRIIPs Regulation") for offering or selling the Notes or otherwise making them available to retail investors in the EEA has been prepared and therefore offering or selling the Notes or otherwise making them available to any retail investor in the EEA may be unlawful under the PRIIPs Regulation.

PROHIBITION OF SALES TO SWISS RETAIL INVESTORS – The Notes are not intended to be offered, sold, or otherwise made available to, and should not be offered, sold, or otherwise made available to, any retail investor in Switzerland. For these purposes, a retail investor means a person who is not a "Professional Client" within the meaning of the Swiss Financial Services Act ("FinSA"). Consequently, no key information document, either in the form of a "Swiss KID" with the format and contents outlined in Title 3, Chapter 2 of FinSA and in the Financial Services Ordinance ("FinSO"), or of a PRIIPs KID, formally recognised as equivalent to a Swiss KID as per Annex 10 of the FinSO, has been prepared for the offering or sale of the Notes or otherwise making them available to retail investors in Switzerland. Offering or selling the Notes, or otherwise making them available to any retail investor in Switzerland without such a Swiss KID or PRIIPs KID, may be unlawful under FinSA.

PROHIBITION OF SALES TO UK RETAIL INVESTORS – The Notes are not intended to be offered, sold or otherwise made available to and should not be offered, sold or otherwise made available to any retail investor in the United Kingdom ("UK"). For these purposes, a retail investor means a person who is one (or more) of: (i) a retail client, as defined in point (8) of Article 2 of Regulation (EU) No 2017/565 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 ("EUWA"); (ii) a customer within the meaning of the provisions of the FSMA and any rules or regulations made under the FSMA to implement Directive (EU) 2016/97, where that customer would not qualify as a professional client, as defined in point (8) of Article 2(1) of Regulation (EU) No 600/2014 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the EUWA; or (iii) not a qualified investor as defined in Article 2 of Regulation (EU) 2017/1129 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the EUWA. Consequently, no key information document required by Regulation (EU) No 1286/2014 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the EUWA (the "UK PRIIPs Regulation") for offering or selling the Notes or otherwise making them available to retail investors in the UK has been prepared and therefore offering or selling the Notes or otherwise making them available to any retail investor in the UK may be unlawful under the UK PRIIPs Regulation.

EEA MiFID II product governance / Professional investors and ECPs only target market – Solely for the purposes of the manufacturer's product approval process, the target market assessment in respect of the Notes has led to the conclusion that: (i) the target market for the Notes is eligible counterparties and professional clients only, each as defined in MiFID II; and (ii) all channels for distribution of the Notes to eligible counterparties and professional clients are appropriate. Any person subsequently offering, selling or recommending the Notes (a "distributor") should take into consideration the manufacturer's target market assessment; however, a distributor subject to MiFID II is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Notes (by either adopting or refining the manufacturer's target market assessment) and determining appropriate distribution channels.

UK MiFIR product governance / Professional investors and ECPs only target market – Solely for the purposes of the manufacturer's product approval process, the target market assessment in respect of the Notes has led to the conclusion that: (i) the target market for the Notes is only eligible counterparties, as defined in the FCA Handbook Conduct of Business Sourcebook ("COBS"), and professional clients, as defined in Regulation (EU) No 600/2014 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 ("UK MiFIR"); and (ii) all channels for distribution of the Notes to eligible counterparties and professional clients are appropriate. Any person subsequently offering, selling or recommending the Notes (for the purposes of this paragraph, a "distributor") should take into consideration the manufacturer's target market assessment; however, a distributor subject to the FCA Handbook Product Intervention and Product Governance Sourcebook (the "UK MiFIR Product Governance Rules") is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Notes (by either adopting or refining the manufacturer's target market assessment) and determining appropriate distribution channels.

In such an event, the Redemption Amount shall be equal to the aggregate Issue Price minus any accrued and unpaid costs and expenses at the date of such compulsory redemption.

> Limited Partner interests to be issued by ETERNA CAPITAL FUND III, an unregulated Luxembourg investment vehicle due to qualify as an alternative investment fund within the meaning of the Alternatives Investment Fund Managers Directive ("AIFMD"), to be set up in the form of a special limited partnership with registered office at 2C, Parc d'Activités, L-8308 Capellen, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and to be registered with the Luxembourg Trade and Company Register (the "AIF"); and > a cash reserve to allow the Issuer to meet the payment obligations of the Compartment during the tenor of the Notes

(all together, the "Unsecured Collateral").

Prospect investors and Noteholders may request free of charge to the Issuer a copy of the Limited Partnership Agreement of the AIF (the "AIF LPA").

The AIF will be managed by its general partner Eterna Capital GP III, a Luxembourg company due to be registered with the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier ("CSSF") as an alternative investment fund manager and with the Luxembourg Trade and Company Register (the "Registered AIFM").

Investment in the AIF will be made through a "Commitment", representing the maximum amount, as specified in the AIF subscription agreement, the Issuer agrees to contribute to the AIF upon capital calls issued by the Registered AIFM via drawdown notices.

Commitments in the AIF can be made until the Initial Closing Date, as defined in the AIF LPA, following which further Commitments may be accepted at the Registered AIFM's discretion until the Final Closing Date, as also defined in the AIF LPA, which is set 1 (one) calendar year after the Initial Closing Date and which may be further extended for a further 6 (six) months period by the Registered AIFM at its sole discretion.

A new prospect investor making a Commitment following the Initial Closing Date or an existing Limited Partner who increases its Commitment after the Initial Closing Date will be required to subscribe for such Limited Partner interest on a basis and at a price as determined by the Registered AIFM, and which may be above the initial price per Limited Partner interest, to take into consideration an equalisation sum to cover interest, proportionate amounts of the initial establishment and investment costs of the AIF, as well as an amount representing the subscriber's portion of the applicable GP Fee, as defined below. More detailed information can be found in the 'Additional Closing' of the AIF LPA.

The AIF intends to have fully invested its deployable capital into portfolio investments within the "AIF Investment Period", which is the period that starts on the Initial Closing Date and ends on a date that is 3 (three) calendar years after such date. The Registered AIFM may, at its sole discretion, extend the AIF Investment period by up to 2 (two) additional years, in increments of 1 (one) year, upon at least 60 (sixty) days' notice to the Limited Partners prior to the expiration of the ongoing AIF Investment Period. During the AIF Investment Period, the AIF may reinvest proceeds realised on the sale or disposition of investments in the AIF's portfolio provided that the AIF's cumulative investments over the term of the AIF other than Temporary Investments, as defined below, shall not exceed 110% (one hundred ten percent) of the AIF's aggregate Commitments.

The Registered AIFM intends to generate strong returns for the AIF over the long term by sourcing opportunities with reasonable valuations in early-stage blockchain and related technologies companies with a strong management team and a clear value creation plan and exit strategy. The AIF will invest based upon in-depth fundamental company research and industry analysis. This will involve detailed assessment of the management of each target company and project.

The AIF will pursue such investment strategy by investing globally, directly or indirectly, in shares of ownership or other equity-related securities (the "Equity Assets") issued by early-stage portfolio companies related to blockchain and/or distributed ledger technology and/or decentralised technologies. The Equity Assets may include, but are not limited to, common stocks, preferred stocks, convertible debt obligations, and convertible preferred stocks, SAFEs (simple agreement for future equity), limited liability companies, stock purchase rights, renounceable letters of allotment, stock options or other securities convertible into equities. Renounceable letters of allotment evidence the right to shares in a company which can be renounced to third parties and are short-term liquid instruments. The instruments and securities may or may not be listed or dealt in on organised on over-the-counter stock markets or exchanges and may include private placement offerings or offerings pursuant to Regulation S under the United States Securities Act of 1933 (as amended) and private securities. The Registered AIFM does not intend to hold a controlling stake in a company or project but may on some occasions have representative(s) sit on the board of a company.

To pursue its investment strategy, the AIF will also acquire, directly or indirectly, cryptocurrencies, crypto assets, virtual currencies, and crypto tokens issued and transferred electronically ("Digital Assets") from early-stage projects that are related to blockchain and/or distributed ledger technology and/or decentralised technologies.

The AIF may also invest in professionally managed investment vehicles, including without limitation, investment companies, investment trusts and investment limited partnerships, alternative investment hedge funds, fund of hedge funds and private equity funds.

The AF AIF may make additional investments into existing portfolio investments with the aim of preserving, protecting or enhancing such investment (each a "AIF Follow-on Investment").

In addition, the AIF may carry out short term investments in money market funds, bank accounts and other money market instruments determined in good faith by the Registered AIFM to be of high quality (the "Temporary Investments").

The AIF will not have recourse to leverage, but it may engage in the use of derivatives, such as futures or other financial instruments, solely for hedging purposes to mitigate investment risks. The use of derivatives will not constitute speculative trading and will adhere to the borrowing and lending restrictions outlined in the AIF LPA.

Further information on the Fund's investment strategy is detailed in the AIF LPA.

The Fund directors intend to provide a full return of capital to Limited Partners within a period of 8 (eight) years from the Initial Closing Date, subject to an extension at the discretion of the Registered AIFM for up to 2 (two) consecutive 1 (one) year periods.

AIF investors bear the costs and expenses associated with the organisation and the initial offering of the AIF shares, including the costs incurred in connection with the preparation of its private placement memorandum, registration fees, document duty and professional fees and expenses, as well as the ordinary costs and expenses associated with the continued operation of the Fund. In addition, the AIF GP shall receive management fees (the "GP Fee"), which are 2% (two percent) per annum calculated on the aggregate Commitments during the AIF Investment Period and on the aggregate invested amount thereafter. The AIF GP may, in its sole discretion, reduce or waive the GP Fee payable with respect to any Limited Partner. On realisation of the AIF investments, the Registered AIFM shall also receive a carried interest of 20% (twenty percent) on any return, if any, above an 8% (eight percent) per annum compounded (the "AIF Hurdle"), after the distribution of the full capital contributions made plus Hurdle has been fully allocated to the Limited Partners, as well as on the Hurdle (the "Catch-Up").

SPECIAL PROVISONS AND COMMENTS

M. United States Federal Income Tax Considerations:	The Notes are not Specified Instruments for purposes of Section 871(m) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986.
N. SFDR - ESG Disclosure:	The Issuer does neither promote environmental or social characteristics nor have sustainable investment as an objective. The investment decisions made for this Serie of Notes do not currently take into account Sustainability Risks (being understood as any environmental, social or governance event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or a potential material negative impact on the value of the investment, and as defined in the SFDR).
O. Other Risks Disclosures Related and Specific to the Securitisation Transaction:	Investors in the Notes should be aware that by acquiring the Notes they are exposed to risks linked to the Securitisation Transaction as detailed in the Base Memorandum as well as risks related to the unsecured Collateral. Despite Schedule 5 of the AIF LPA should be consulted for a more detailed description of all risks associated specifically with the AIF, the following are the main risks related to the investments to the Unsecured Collateral: a) Venture Capital: by their very nature, venture capital investments such as the ones made by the AIF in Equity Assets may involve greater risks than are generally associated with investments in more established companies. Much of a company's success or failure depends on the management team. Venture capitalists ideally look for a company that's run by managers with a track record of success, either within the company they are giving the money to or in previous positions. Venture capitalists look for companies with high growth potential. The risk factor lies in the word "potential." Market trends can impact the growth of a company once poised for success. While entrepreneurs seeking venture capital funding may have covered all the bases, they need to get their product or service on the market, every company still has barriers that must be overcome. Ultimately, venture capitalists must be able to see an end to the risk and enjoy their profits. The two most common ways of paying off angel investors are through an initial public offering and a buyout. Venture capitalists face the risks that the company managers won't be able to pull off the planned exit strategy. They may not produce enough revenue to offer the company to the public and sell shares. Smaller companies looking for a big buyer may not be successful enough to make the grade, leaving venture capitalists stuck.

b) Blockchain Technology and Digital Assets: the AIF will seek to achieve its objective by investing in unlisted private, global equity and direct investments in Digital Assets of disruptive, early stage blockchain technology-related companies. The development of blockchain and other related technologies may not proceed as anticipated and the technology companies in which the AIF invests either directly or indirectly may not succeed in securing customers for their technologies and/or achieving profitability in their operations. Even if such success is achieved such companies are likely to experience greater volatility in terms of performance than companies focused on more established technologies. Blockchain and other related digital asset technologies and the marketplace and proposed uses for such technologies are still in the early stages of development. The risks associated with investment in such technologies include regulatory uncertainty, risk of fraud, security breaches and failure of such technologies, and the speculative nature of the investments, given the current limited adoption and complexity of such technologies. More specifically, the Registered AIFM encourages the Limited Partners to carefully consider investment risks specific to blockchain and digital assets, which include, but are not limited to: (i) Digital Assets are highly speculative and subject to extreme price volatility; (ii) the markets for Digital Assets remain underdeveloped and, at times, illiquid; (iii) Digital Assets operate in a rapidly changing regulatory environment, whereby laws and regulations related to digital assets differ between jurisdictions and may change unpredictably; (iv) Digital Assets are uniquely exposed to cybersecurity risks; (v) Digital Asset markets are less regulated than traditional financial markets, which increases the risk of price manipulation, pump-and-dump schemes, insider trading, and other forms of market abuse; (vi) the Digital Asset custodians the AIF may use may not be subject to the same regulatory standards as traditional custodians and may lack protections such as insurance or investor compensation schemes; (vii) As the Blockchain technology on which Digital Assets rely on remains in its early stages, and its long-term viability is uncertain, it may experience bugs, coding errors, or technical malfunctions; (viii) Blockchains may undergo "forks", where the original protocol splits into two or more distinct versions, and such forks can create competing versions of a digital asset, leading to confusion over value, ownership, and transferability, and ultimately to the devaluation of the Digital Assets themselves; (ix) the legal and tax treatment of digital assets remains inconsistent across jurisdictions; (x) Many Digital Assets are not covered by insurance, meaning that losses due to theft, fraud, hacking, or operational failures may not be recoverable; (xi) the AIF may invest and be directly or indirectly involved in Decentralized Finance ("DeFi") activities, which introduce additional risks, as DeFi protocols often operate on smart contracts that are prone to bugs, coding errors, or security vulnerabilities; and (xii) for certain digital assets, the AIF may participate in "staking" activities, which involve locking assets to support blockchain operations in return for rewards. Staking introduces risks such as "slashing", where assets can be penalised due to misbehaviour by validators or network participants, and staking assets may also be illiquid for extended periods, limiting the ability of the AIF to sell or transfer its holdings during that time.

c) Concentration Risk: To the extent that its portfolio is concentrated in investments or other assets in or from a particular country, market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class, the Compartment may be adversely affected by the performance of those assets, maybe subject to increased price volatility and may be more susceptible to adverse economic, market, political or regulatory occurrences affecting that market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class.

d) Liquidity: the Unsecured Collateral is illiquid and consequently it may not be possible to sell it at a price that reflects the Calculation Agent's assessment of the relevant fair value. The nature of the Unsecured Collateral also requires a long holding period prior to profitability. Consequently, disposals of the Unsecured Collateral may require a lengthy period.

e) Defaulting AIF Limited Partners: There can be no assurance that all Commitments will be honoured by the Limited Partners of the AIF. In the event that a partner defaults on a drawdown notice, it may be difficult for the AIF and its non-defaulting partners to make up the shortfall. Whilst the AIF subscription agreement provides for remedies against the defaulting partners, any default by one or more of the partners could have a material adverse effect on the AIF. The AIF may find it difficult or impossible to enforce certain partners' obligations to contribute capital to the AIF, which could impair the AIF's ability to avail of investment opportunities.

f) Layering of Fees: on top of its own fees, the Compartment shall invest in the AIF, who is subject to additional fees and may in turn invest in other collective investment vehicles and other managed structures subject to fees, therefore the Compartment's returns will be adversely impacted by such layers of different fees.

g) Taxation: Noteholders should consider the tax treatment of the Notes and of the Unsecured Collateral and consult a tax advisor regarding fiscal risks and implications before investing.

The above-mentioned risk factors are not intended to be comprehensive and there may be other risk factors that relate to or may be associated with the investment into the Unsecured Collateral. In addition, investors are recommended to read carefully the Investor Suitability and Risk Factors sections of the Base Memorandum.
