Any person subsequently offering, selling or recommending the Notes (a "distributor") should take into consideration the manufacturer's target market assessment; however, a distributor subject to MiFID II is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Notes (by either adopting or refining the manufacturer's target market assessment) and determining appropriate distribution channels.

The Partnership will have an unlimited duration but with a determined investment duration of 15 (fifteen) years and shall be put into liquidation in case substantially all the investments made by the Partnership are sold, or in case substantially all the shares in the project companies have been listed on a regulated market, or in case of any other liquidation event, as defined in the Partnership's private placement memorandum, occurs.

The net proceeds resulting from the sale, disposal or otherwise of an investment will be distributed as soon as possible after receipt by the Partnership of the relevant amounts and will not be reinvested, save that the Partnership shall be entitled to retain sufficient amounts from the net proceeds to cover any expenses and fulfil any other obligations.

SPECIAL PROVISONS AND COMMENTS

M. United States Federal Income Tax Considerations:	The Notes are not Specified Instruments for purposes of Section 871(m) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986.
N. SFDR - ESG Disclosure:	The Issuer does neither promote environmental or social characteristics nor have sustainable investment as an objective. The investment decisions made for this Serie of Notes do not currently take into account Sustainability Risks (being understood as any environmental, social or governance event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or a potential material negative impact on the value of the investment, and as defined in the SFDR).
O. Other Risks Disclosures Related and Specific to the Securitisation Transaction:	Investors in the Notes should be aware that by acquiring the Notes they are exposed to specific risks linked to the Securitisation Transaction as detailed in the Base Memorandum and to the specific risks related to the Partnership, as further detailed in its private placement memorandum, and to following specific risks linked to the Underlying Assets: a) Concentration Risk: To the extent that its portfolio is concentrated in investments or other assets in or from a particular country, market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class, the Compartment may be adversely affected by the performance of those assets, maybe subject to increased price volatility and may be more susceptible to adverse economic, market, political or regulatory occurrences affecting that market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class.

b) Duplication of Fees: the Compartment shall invest in the Partnership and therefore will be subject to the fees payable to such scheme in respect so that the Noteholders shall be subject to duplication of fees.

c) Venture Capital: By their very nature, venture capital investments such as the ones made by the Partnership in Project Companies are risky. Much of a company's success or failure depends on the management team. Venture capitalists ideally look for a company that's run by managers with a track record of success, either within the company they are giving the money to or in previous positions. Venture capitalists look for companies with high growth potential. The risk factor lies in the word "potential." Market trends can impact the growth of a company once poised for success. While entrepreneurs seeking venture capital funding may have covered all the bases, they need to get their product or service on the market, every company still has barriers that must be overcome. Ultimately, venture capitalists must be able to see an end to the risk and enjoy their profits. The two most common ways of paying off angel investors are through an initial public offering and a buyout. Venture capitalists face the risks that the company managers won't be able to pull off the planned exit strategy. They may not produce enough revenue to offer the company to the public and sell shares. Smaller companies looking for a big buyer may not be successful enough to make the grade, leaving venture capitalists stuck.

In addition, investors are recommended to read carefully the Investor Suitability and Risk Factors sections of the Base Memorandum.
